DIGEST AND PURPOSE

Currently, the Private Investigators and Private Security Agencies Act (Private Security Act) enables fulltime active peace officers who are employed by a municipality or the state to work off-duty employment as well as supervise and coordinate scheduling as an extra job coordinator for other municipal or state peace officers to work off-duty as guards, patrolmen, or watchmen. H.B. 1680 modifies the definition of "extra job coordinator" in the Private Security Act to make it applicable to full-time employees of a political subdivision of the state.
