AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Under current federal law, cities are eligible for reimbursement of 75 percent of eligible expenses incurred for emergency shelter services during a federally declared disaster. Eligible expenses under federal law do not include straight-time salary for public employees or loss of revenue for public facilities. State law, however, does not require the state to reimburse cities for providing emergency shelter for disaster victims during a state-ordered evacuation.

The provision of shelter to evacuees involves a significant commitment of resources by the host cities, including straight-time salaries, overtime payments, and lost revenue from public facilities such as convention centers used for emergency shelter operations that displace revenue-producing activities.

H.B. 1998 amends current law relating to temporary housing and emergency shelters provided by a political subdivision for disaster victims.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
