AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Currently, nursing homes and assisted living facilities may advertise, market, or otherwise promote care specifically for persons with Alzheimer's and related disorders with or without holding a specific certification to provide these services. Advertising and marketing strategies can be confusing and leave a family uninformed.

H.B. 2588 requires nursing homes and assisted living facilities that provide specialized care and treatment to residents with Alzheimer's and related disorders to disclose if a facility is certified for the provision of personal care and treatment of Alzheimer's and other disorders in the facility's disclosure statement. What's more, the bill requires the executive commissioner of the Health and Human Services Commission to adopt any rules prescribing the disclosures required in the bill.

H.B. 2588 amends current law relating to disclosures by nursing facilities and assisted living facilities regarding certification or classification to provide specialized care, treatment, or personal care services to residents with Alzheimer's disease or related disorders, and adds requirements for an occupational license.
