AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Currently, Chapter 7A, Code of Criminal Procedure, provides for civil protective orders for victims of sexual assault and abuse, stalking, and human trafficking. During a criminal proceeding, courts typically place conditions on defendants' bond, rather than protective orders, to ensure no contact between defendants and victims. However, because bond conditions do not apply after a criminal proceeding, these protections do not extend to a defendant's period of community supervision or at the time of release from prison. A protective order issued after conviction would cover victims after the prosecution and, under Section 85.025(c), Family Code, would extend at least one year after an offender's release.

As filed, S.B. 630 amends Article 7A.01 (Application for Protective Order), Code of Criminal Procedure, to allow victims of Continuous Trafficking of Persons to apply for civil protective orders under that article. The bill also amends Article 56.021 (Rights of Victim of Sexual Assault), Code of Criminal Procedure, to strengthen post-conviction and post-offender-release protections for victims of sexual assault and abuse, stalking, and human trafficking.

As proposed, S.B. 630 amends current law relating to protective orders for certain victims of sexual assault or abuse, stalking, or trafficking.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
