AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

A key to effectively implementing digital teaching and learning is the creation and sharing of high-quality open education and teacher-created resources that align with Texas standards. Currently the State of Texas has no tool that allows educators and administrators to easily and effectively evaluate digital and Open Education Resource (OER) materials. S.B. 1484 changes that by creating an Instructional Materials Web Portal (portal) and Instructional Materials Repository (repository).

The portal and repository:

- assists school districts and open-enrollment charter schools in selecting instructional materials;
- includes information on price, operating requirements, and any other relevant information; and
- provides third party independent analysis regarding TEKS alignment.

The portal includes instructional materials from the Instructional Materials list under Section 31.0231 and material submitted directly by publishers.

By presenting OER alongside other digital material with an independent third party evaluation and reviews, the portal creates a centralized location for sourcing, evaluating, and comparing instructional materials. And, because OER is presented on the same footing as other materials districts will be able to easily identify opportunities to capitalize on cost savings presented by these materials, many of which were created through the support of tax payer dollars.

These instructional materials would then be included in the repository, which would be accessible through the portal. This repository acts as a warehouse and catalogue for Texas districts of the available open education resources that are submitted to the portal, thus providing easy access to districts at no cost. Currently no such solution exists.

As proposed, S.B. 1484 amends current law relating to the creation of an instructional materials web portal by the commissioner of education.
