AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

When we passed S.B. 2 last session, there was a specific provision that exempted a drought from being a reason a taxing unit could increase revenue above the 3.5 percent voter-approval rate. The reason behind this is a drought is more of an economic disaster than a disaster that causes physical damage, like a hurricane or tornado or a flood. It had been over 100 years since the last global pandemic until March 2020 and COVID-19. Like a drought, a pandemic is an economic disaster more than a physical disaster. There were multiple jurisdictions that attempted to use the pandemic disaster declaration as a way to increase revenue by up to eight percent. Fortunately, very few followed through with raising property taxes on their citizens in the middle of a pandemic.

S.B. 1438 seeks to clearly codify when the disaster exception would apply and for how long. In addition to the area being declared a disaster, S.B. 1438 adds that the disaster caused physical damage to property located in the taxing unit in order to be able to calculate at the eight percent voter-approval rate. Additionally, S.B. 1438 puts a timeframe on how long a taxing unit may use the higher rate. It is the earlier of the first year in which the total taxable value of property on the appraisal roll exceeds the total taxable value of property on January 1 of the year the disaster occurred or the third tax year after the tax year the disaster occurred in that taxing unit.

S.B. 1438 removes the election requirement for a taxing unit still responding to the disaster the year after the disaster occurred. There is a separate provision for school districts that also removes the election requirement for the year after the disaster occurred if they are still recovering; however, the rate adopted applies only for that year.

S.B. 1438 seeks to add clarity when dealing with different types of disasters.

As proposed, S.B. 1438 amends current law relating to the effect of a disaster on the calculation of certain tax rates and the procedure for adoption of a tax rate by a taxing unit.
