The library has created a new research guide that provides an overview of the 1965 revision of the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure. Included in the guide is a timeline and overview of the revision process, an annotated list of legislation that lead to the enactment of the new Code of Criminal Procedure in 1965, links to previous versions of the Code, and documents available for each year of the revision process. The guide serves as an excellent resource for discovering materials in the library collection that are relevant to the Code of Criminal Procedure's revision, and may aid researchers in tracing the reasoning and intent of specific statutory language.

This is the library's second such research guide; the first guide provided information relating to the Penal Code revision.
