DIGEST

The Texas Juvenile Probation Commission (TJPC) has received several complaints of alleged child abuse in juvenile pre-adjudication and post-adjudication secure detention and correctional facilities. However, because secure juvenile detention and correctional facilities are not licensed by the Texas Department of Protective and Regulatory Services (DPRS), DPRS does not have the authority to investigate alleged child abuse or neglect in those facilities. Concern has been raised that the investigation of alleged abuse in these facilities has suffered as a result. H.B. 1929 would require juvenile probation officers and juvenile detention or correctional officers to report child abuse or neglect to a local law enforcement agency, and would require a local law enforcement agency to immediately notify TJPC of any report the agency receives.

PURPOSE

As proposed, H.B. 1929 provides for the investigation and reporting of child abuse or neglect.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
