AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Currently, there is no law requiring establishments to post a notification regarding the offense of human trafficking. Texas is ranked second in the United States for the amount of human trafficking that occurs within its territory. With 14,000 people being trafficked into the United States annually, Texas is a major hub for traffickers. About 80 percent of trafficking victims are often forced into the sex-slave trade industry. In many of these cases, young women and men are forced to act as "hostesses," "waiters," or "waitresses" in establishments that serve alcohol such as bars or entertainment clubs. Furthermore, outreach services are widely unknown to victims of trafficking.

As proposed, S.B. 1287 requires certain establishments to post specific notification regarding the offense of human trafficking in both English and Spanish along with the number to the national human trafficking hotline.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
