AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

In Texas, county judges have responsibility for emergency preparedness and response within their local jurisdictions. These officials may appoint an emergency management coordinator to manage day-to-day program activities.

Increasingly, urban areas are hiring professional emergency managers who may be highly trained in incident command and response but, not being law enforcement officers, firefighters, or health personnel, must mix with regular traffic when rushing to a disaster site, as current statutes do not recognize emergency managers among those authorized to use lights and sirens.

H.B. 802 amends Section 541.201 (Definitions), Transportation Code, to add language that will authorize county owned or leased emergency management vehicles to be classified as emergency vehicles authorized to operate with red and blue lights and sirens.

H.B. 802 amends current law relating to the definition of an authorized emergency vehicle.

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
